mineral springs and waterfall, heated underground by lava fissures the thermal water temperature can reach as high as 63oC as it bubbles out of the ground and cascades down the mountain in a series of waterfalls.

Wadi-Rum

Gargantuan rock formations, rippled sand dunes, and clear night skies create an almost fairy-tale setting across an unpopulated area the size of New York City. This is truly the "reddest" part of Jordan, colored by

Ajloun

Ajloun forest was first proposed as a protected area in the 1978 survey. Its ecological importance is represented by the Evergreen Oak vegetation type, which is typical of the northern highlands of Jordan. As part of the
